

Jeff Gittins, an associate at Smith|Hartvigsen PLLC, practices primarily in the areas of water law and land use. He assists governmental entities, corporations, and private individuals in all aspects of water law, including water rights transactions, water rights analysis, and water rights litigation. He also represents clients in matters involving zoning disputes, condemnation, easements, boundary disputes, and other land use issues. Prior to joining Smith|Hartvigsen, Mr. Gittins served as a clerk to the Honorable Justice Jill N. Parrish of the Utah Supreme Court.

Practice Areas

Water Law
Natural Resources
Land Use
Appellate Litigation

Professional Memberships

Utah State Bar (2007)

Education

Juris Doctor, J. Reuben Clark Law School (Brigham Young University), magna cum laude

Order of the Coif
Editor-in-Chief of BYU Law Review
Lead Editor of BYU Journal of Public Law
Associate Editor of International Law and Management Review

Bachelor of Science in Business and Agribusiness, Utah State University, summa cum laude

Valedictorian for the College of Agriculture
University Honors
Honors in Business

Publications

Bormann Revisited: Using the Penn Central Test to Determine the Constitutionality of Right-to-Farm Statutes, 2006 BYU Law Review 1381

Excluding the Exclusionary Rule: Extending the Rationale of Hudson v. Michigan to Evidence Seized During Unauthorized Nighttime Searches, 2007 BYU Law Review 451

Languages

Spanish